This large townhouse is centrally located and has plenty of outside space, with far reaching views to the sea at Malaga Bay. Casarabonela is a typical Andalusian village and has excellent sports facilities including a swimming pool, see our photos. The front door opens in to a sitting room, and from here there is access to both the lower and upper parts of the property. In the lower part of the house there is a bathroom with bath, shower, toilet and basin, a second sitting room, a utility area, cloakroom with toilet, store room and a kitchen with worktops, floor and wall cupboards, stainless steel sink and drainer, fridge freezer, fireplace and beamed ceiling. From the sitting room there is access to a superb walled terrace with great views. In the upper section of the house there are two double bedrooms near to the entrance sitting room, and both of these face the views. Upstairs there is another double bedroom, and a hallway leading to another double bedroom with good views. Also on this level there is a large living room with full width windows facing the views, and a second kitchen with stone worktops, floor and wall cupboards, gas hob and fridge freezer. There is also a bathroom on this level, with...
